Singer Songwriter

Voice, Guitar and Piano Teacher

Rachael Byrnes is an urban folk singer/songwriter with blues, jazz, country and world music influences. Playing regularly at Melbourne's popular music venues such as the Wesley Anne, The Edinburgh Castle and Manchester Lane, Rachael has attracted a growing and loyal audience who often describe her music as "Joni Mitchell-esque". Rachael's original music can be downloaded on www.myspace.com/rachaelbyrnes

About Rachael

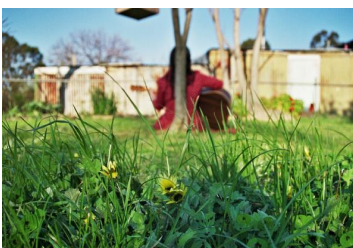

The Rachael Byrnes Music Studio is a home based teaching studio situated in Northcote Melbourne where students can learn piano, guitar, singing and music theory. As well as performing and composing, Rachael has been teaching for over three years both privately and through larger music schools such as Billy Hyde Music. Rachael's qualifications include a Bachelor of Arts in Public Relations and an Advanced Diploma in Music Performance and Composition.

Rachael Byrnes Music Studio

When it comes to learning music there is no single method or approach that fits all students. Rachael uses an eclectic approach drawing from traditional, contemporary, alternative and creative methods which are then tailored to the individual. From the tried and tested to the weird and wacky, Rachael is committed to using a broad selection of approaches to ensure her students stay inspired and committed to learning music. Methods that have inspired Rachael's teaching include Speech Level Singing, Suzuki, Alfred's & Effortless Mastery.
